As long as there's been a pro-life movement, we've worked to provide alternatives to abortion. Now it's time to expand that effort: we need alternatives to Planned Parenthood.

Our website offers a clearinghouse for information for local activists. We list each PP center, then match each to the Community Health Centers in its vicinity. We've made one page on the site for each US state. If there are other good alternatives, we also add those.

Where alternatives are suitable, we as local activists will want to promote them. Where there aren't yet good alternatives, what can we do to get them established?

For those who want to chip in:

- Help us publicize this effort, and send people to the web page at grassrootsdefunding.org
- Look at listings for your local area. Let us know immediately (see contact info at top) if there's information we should have about how suitable any of the CHCs are as PP alternatives, both good and bad. Also let us know of corrections or updates.

For those excited about doing more, we need people to

- Go to the CHC to research how well they work or if they need improvement; we provide a checklist (grassrootsdefunding.com/research)
- Be creative in coming up with local actions to encourage people who need any kind of medical care that PP provides to go elsewhere; we have suggestions on the web site. Let us know what you're doing so we can share it.

If we succeed, we'll have a direct impact on PP that includes moving women who get pregnant out of its orbit so they're less likely to be pushed into abortion. But also, we have an indirect effect on PP's political strength.
